

NEW YORK WRAPS HERSELF IN FLAGS

Sons of Revolution Observe the Day on Steps of Sub-Treasury.

STOTESBURY URGES MANHOOD SERVICE

Adjutant General Is Principal Speaker at Exercises Conducted by Elks.

From tenements of the East Side and from homes in Fifth Avenue, from office buildings, banks and churches, Old Glory waved yesterday in commemoration of its 139th birthday. New York celebrated Flag Day as it never has before. Flags waved from every building in many blocks on Broadway, Fifth Avenue and the principal cross-street. Between the twin spires of St. Patrick's Cathedral, 150 feet above the pavement, a huge banner was flung to the breeze. The whole Wall Street district was turned red, white and blue. Small flags were carried on thousands of automobiles, and everywhere pedestrians wore the colors on the lapels of their coats.

Special exercises were held in the public squares, and almost 100,000 school children took part in open air exercises in the parks.

Sons of Revolution Celebrate.

The Sons of the Revolution held commemorative exercises at the Sub-Treasury Building before a crowd which filled Wall and Broad streets. Three hundred members of the society marched behind the first Regiment Band from Fraunce's Tavern up Broad Street to the Sub-Treasury. A stand, almost hidden with flags, had been built across the front of the building. The speakers stood just below the Ward statue of Washington.

Robert Glynn, president of the society, introduced the Rev. Dr. George F. Nelson, canon of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, who asked the invocation, and John Canfield Tompkins, who read the duty of allegiance to the ideals and principles for which the flag stands. Mayor Mitchell was a guest.

Impressive exercises were held at New York Lodge, No. 1 Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, 108 West Forty-third Street, yesterday afternoon. A feature was the building of a red, white and blue liberty bell of flowers on the altar of the lodge by its members. The bell, symbolic of courage, loyalty and devotion; lilies, representing charity, purity and truth; and violets, to show justice, brotherly love and fidelity, were the flowers of the national emblem. The bell was topped by a bar of thirteen stars.

Stotesbury Asks Manhood Service.

Louis W. Stotesbury, adjutant general of the state, was the principal speaker. He asked for recognition of the duty of universal service to the country.

"We must enforce the recognition of the obligation of service," he said. "With the right of manhood suffrage is coupled the obligation of manhood service. The only safe and sound policy for any nation that is free and intends to remain so is to adopt a military system based upon compulsion, by which every man, whether he wants it or not, is required to perform a patriotic duty."

At the exercises were representatives of the Memorial Committee, Grand Army of the Republic; the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States; the National and Executive Order of the Sons of the American Revolution; the Society of Mayflower Descendants; the American Flag Association; the Society of the Cincinnati; the Veteran Corps of Artillery of New York and the Society of American Veterans.

The patriotic spirit of the day was a children's demonstration in front of the home of Mrs. Everett M. Baynor, president general of the Daughters of the Revolution, and the children of the Sons of the American Revolution, who sang patriotic songs, and in their enthusiasm threw themselves in the folds of the flag and hugged and kissed it.

Boy scouts stationed at the Grand Central Terminal and the Pennsylvania Station throughout the day gave to arriving and departing parties throughout the day.

First Park Songs To-Night.

Words To Be Flashed on Screen for East Side Folks.

At 8 o'clock to-night, in John Jay Park, at Seventy-seventh Street and East River, the first of a series of neighborhood song services will begin. It is the intention of Cabot Ward, Park Commissioner, and others interested in the movement to hold these park song festivals each Thursday night in the various parks throughout the city. Ralph Grosvenor will lead the singing and the words of the songs will be thrown on a screen, so that the many persons of foreign birth who live in the neighborhood will have an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the melodies and words of American folk songs. Each service will end with the national anthem.

Among the organizations interested in this plan are Greenwich House, the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, the East Side Young Men's Christian Association and St. Bartholomew's Parish House.

CABARETS WIN IN COURT

No Theatrical Licenses Necessary, Says Magistrate Levy.

There was joy in the cabarets last night. Magistrate Levy, in the West Side court, dismissed yesterday the city's action against representatives of Reisenweber's, Columbus Circle; the Tokio, 145 West Forty-fifth Street; and the Pekin, Broadway and Forty-seventh Street.

All these places were charged with presenting theatrical performances without a license, and their proprietors were arraigned last December. But Judge Crain, in General Sessions, reversed the decision of Magistrate Appleton that restaurateurs who conduct cabaret performances must have theatrical licenses.

Magistrate Levy's decision followed the decision on Maxie's appeal from Magistrate Appleton's decision.

FORDHAM ENJOYS DIAMOND JUBILEE

Twenty Thousand in Commencement Procession Across Campus.

FATHER MULRY HITS DECADENCE OF AGE

Calls on Graduates to Check the Day's Evils—Honorary Degree for 92-Year-Old Alumnus.

Fordham University's diamond jubilee was celebrated yesterday with commencement exercises, in which 20,000 persons, many of whom were members of its alumni associations, took active part. The programme had been arranged to mark the passing of the seventy-fifth mile post in the life of the university, as well as the graduation of the 1916 class. His Eminence John Cardinal Farley presided.

The day's ceremony began with a procession of the faculty, alumni, graduates and guests. The marchers proceeded from the administration building across the campus to the speakers' stand. At the end of the procession was Cardinal Farley, accompanied on the right by the Rev. Joseph A. Mulry, president of the university, and on the left by Monsignor Mooney.

Three speakers represented the graduates of the medical, legal and science departments. They were John C. Brady, whose subject was "The Physician and War"; Leo H. Healy, "The Law and the Citizen"; William A. Clarke, "Education—Its Lessons."

President Mulry made a vigorous attack upon "The Decadent Tendencies of the Present Day." In an address delivered at the conclusion of the students' talks. He called upon the graduates of Fordham to do their share in checking the evils which, he declared, beset the nation on every side and threatened to destroy it unless challenged by present and future patriots.

"The thrones of kings are tottering, and the foundation pillars of republics are trembling while the dread roll of battle drum echoes round the world," he said, "intellectual success, maddened by unparalleled success in many fields, has put out daring opinions and challenged all limitations of knowledge. 'Let all things be new' is the watchword of humanity and to make all things new is humanity's strong resolve."

Cardinal Farley, a product of Fordham's first class, drew comparisons of the institution when he was graduated and to-day. Then the procession retraced its steps across the campus.

Among the thirty-two recipients of honorary degrees was Augustine M. O'Neill, '49, the oldest living graduate of the university. Mr. O'Neill, who is ninety-two, was pushed upon the campus in a wheel chair.

NEWS OF PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Gest Gets Musical Rights to Belasco's "Sweet Kitty Bellairs."

Morris Gest, in association with R. Ray Comstock and Arthur Hammerstein, announced yesterday that a contract had been signed with David Belasco, by which he and his associates obtained the rights to "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" for a musical production next year. Announcements of the name of the revised story and the librettist will be made later.

"Saxus Matanus" is the title selected for the new comedy of negro life by Lawrence Eyre, which William Harris will present early next season. Recent additions to the cast include Suzanne Williams, Mildred Morris, John Webster, Ian Collier, Harry Cowley, Bernard Thornton, Robert Smith, Francis J. Gilen, Dorothy Lewis and James Gardner. A preliminary try-out will take place in Atlantic City week after next.

Christine Norman, whose work in "The Unchastened Woman" received favorable notice, has signed with Arthur Hammerstein for the leading female role in "The Mother-Woman," by Inez Milhner, a three-act play scheduled for production in September.

Klaw & Erlanger have signed with the owners of the Gaiety Theatre to retain their lease for another ten years.

"Quo Vadis?" one of the first of the spectacle films, which had a long run at the Astor Theatre in 1913, at regular box office prices, will be added to the Billie Burke serial, "Gloria's Romance," at the Globe, starting Monday.

"Diana, the Huntress," probably the first adaptation of a Greek myth for the film, will be shown at the Strand next week. Among others, Paul Swan, Baroness Dewitz and Lionel Braham are in the cast.

Emanuel Reicher will close his short season at the Bandbox this Saturday night. "Justice," will leave the cast Saturday to sail for London, where he will join the colors.

Rupert Harvey, now appearing in "Justice," will leave the cast Saturday to sail for London, where he will join the colors.

ASK $10,000 FOR FIGHT ON WEST SIDE PLAN

Riverside Drive Residents to Hold Meeting Tuesday.

Residents of Riverside Drive interested in the preservation of Riverside Park have started a fund of $10,000 to employ an expert to go over and check up on the plans for the New York Central West Side improvement, by which it is proposed to run the tracks along the riverfront through tunnels.

Charles and Charles Golden head the fund, and an appeal for subscriptions has been sent out by Mrs. Charles Austin Bryan, president of the Women's League for the Protection of Riverside Park.

A public meeting will be held next Tuesday night at the residence of Amelia Bingham, the actress, 103 Riverside Drive, to further discuss means for fighting the proposed improvement scheme. Mrs. Bryan has expressed the opinion that those who cannot be present send checks or pledges for their subscriptions.

GARBAGE PLANK MAY SPANK CITY

Staten Islanders Ask Democratic Convention to Help Them.

Demand for a garbage plank in the Democratic platform was made last night in a telegram sent from 100,000 Staten Islanders to Martin H. Glynn, temporary chairman of the Democratic National Convention. The prayer of the Staten Islanders will be read in St. Louis this morning, probably immediately after the invocation.

The telegram follows: "Save Staten Island from destruction by our city administration's forcing a garbage plant upon us, despite our united and vigorous protest."

"Staten Island votes once carried New York State and elected Grover Cleveland President."

The message is signed by the Staten Island Vigilance Committee, and carries a postscript asking that it be read before the convention this morning.

In view of the bid of the Democrats for Progressive support and the acknowledgment of the race in New York next November the committee believes that the feeling of Staten Islanders is so high on the garbage disposal proposition that a garbage plank would win important votes for the cause of Democracy.

While anticipating a political victory, the opponents of the garbage plant yesterday, Edward P. Doyle, of the anti-garbage plant forces, got from County Judge Tiernan an order calling upon William McDermott, Building Commissioner of Staten Island, to show cause on June 26 why he should grant to the city's contractors a permit to build the garbage plant on Lake Island.

Prall's and Meadow islands meanwhile are in the possession of Doyle, who holds his ground, despite the threats of the police and the announcement of J. Stanley Drake that he intends to recapture Prall's Island by force, and to kidnaping, surrendered to Supreme Court Justice Aspinwall in the Supreme Court of Richmond yesterday afternoon, and was released on $500 bail.

The Staten Island Chamber of Commerce for the first time last night entered the arena against the city.

NEW HAVEN'S REPLY REPUDIATES MELLEN

Not Bound to Pay for His Acts as President, It Says.

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company answered yesterday the suit which Charles S. Mellen, former president of the company, has brought to collect $78,222 for expenses in litigation. He says he has paid out this amount since resigning the presidency to defend himself in civil and criminal proceedings growing out of his activities as president. He also asks for $75,000 under a contract for an allowance of $30,000 a year for his advice and information for five years from the time he resigned.

The company asserts that the agreement for the annual allowance was not a legal contract, but if it is so construed, it is void. It says that Mellen was not rendered any services. It also says that Mr. Mellen wrote a letter waiving this allowance and that the agreement was thereupon cancelled.

Howard Elliott, the plaintiff's lawyer, as president of the New Haven, expressed the appreciation of the board of directors over the action of Mr. Mellen in waiving the annual $30,000 allowance. Mr. Elliott wrote: "I think your action was wise and that you took a position that was sound from your own point of view."

As to the claim for $78,222 for expenses, the company says that this expense was incurred by Mr. Mellen in connection with certain alleged illegal acts of the plaintiff while president of the New Haven, for which the company was not responsible and which it would not bind itself to pay.

DOCTORS HURT ORPET DEFENCE

Testify That Marion Lambert Was Killed by Poison in Liquid Form.

Waukegan, Ill., June 14.—Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner, testified to-day at the trial of William H. Orpet for the alleged murder of Marion Lambert that the cyanide of potassium which caused death was taken in liquid form. He based this statement on allegations that stains of the poison on Miss Lambert's person were made by sediment and not by cyanide in crystal form.

This point was regarded as important by the state in connection with the charge that Orpet bought a two-ounce bottle from Charles Hassinger, a friend, in the drug business at Madison, Wis. The defence, it is said, will contend that Miss Lambert took the corrosive in crystal form with her, probably wrapped in a bit of paper.

Dr. Taylor said that stains from the sediment were on Miss Lambert's hand, also a streak from a corner of her mouth toward her forehead, as if left there by a trickle of liquid.

Dr. B. M. Parmenter also testified that, in his opinion, the poison was taken in liquid form.

William Marshall, a golf professional employed at the Ontonagon County Club, at Lake Forest, testified to finding Mrs. Lambert's body in Helms Wood. He said he followed the tracks of the man who was with her for about twenty yards and then discovered he had retraced his steps.

Marshall underwent a searching cross-examination as to the footprints, due, according to Attorney Ralph Potter, of the defence, to contradiction of the testimony of Marshall on this point with that of others who were in the woods on February 10.

"The state contends that Orpet returned to the body of the girl, having been told by the footprints in the snow," explained Attorney Potter. "As a matter of fact, he ran away as straight and as fast as he could and never returned until taken there by the state's attorney. The discrepancies in the testimony of the state's footprint observers, therefore, is of importance."

Collector Held in $220 Theft.

John O'Brien, a collector for the Grinnings Operating Company, at 624 Madison Avenue, was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Breen in the Yorkville court, charged with the larceny of $220. O'Brien, who is 35 years old and lives at 151 West 141st Street, was held in $1,500 bail for examination Monday. Maurice D. Barry, treasurer of the company, appeared against him.

Threats Lead to Sanity Test.

David Scheuer, of 79 Harley Street, Newark, son of the late Simon Scheuer, was detained yesterday in the First Precinct police court for examination as to his sanity. Scheuer is said to have threatened to kill U. H. McCarter, president of the Fidelity Trust Company, and Assistant Prosecutor Wilbur F. Mott.

ELSIE FERGUSON BANKER'S BRIDE

Stage Favorite Wed to Thomas Benedict Clarke, Jr., at the St. Regis.

LAST PLAYED PORTIA TO SIR HERBERT TREE

Bridegroom, a Yale Man, Is Vice-President of the Hariman National.

Miss Elsie Louise Ferguson, one of the most popular actresses of the American stage, was married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the St. Regis to Thomas Benedict Clarke, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Clarke, of 22 East Thirty-fifth Street. The ceremony was performed before a temporary altar of white peonies and palms in the Marie Antoinette room by Dr. Albert Dale Gantz, and a reception followed in the marble ballroom. The decorations consisted of white peonies, roses, palms and bay trees.

The bride, who was given away by her mother, Mrs. H. Benson Ferguson, wore an afternoon gown of fillet lace over salmon colored tulle, a Leghorn hat trimmed with blue tulle, and she carried yellow orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Carroll Brown, of Portland, Me., was the matron of honor, and she was in white chiffon and lace, wore a dark blue straw hat trimmed with tulle and carried rose buds.

Frank L. Polk, counsellor of the State Department, was Mr. Clarke's best man. There were no ushers.

The wedding was a small and simple affair, being celebrated at the St. Regis. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. H. Bird, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ewing, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Oren Root, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Williams, General and Mrs. Oliver B. Bridgman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Harriman, Miss Miriam Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Greenleaf, Mr. and Mrs. James Duane Pell, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Dominick, Mr. and Mrs. A. Duer Irving, Mr. and Mrs. W. Anderson Keys, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hagan, Joseph Melin, Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Pope, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Rorbaugh, W. H. W. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Scott McManahan, Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Plummer, Stuart Wyeth, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gibbons, Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Frank L. Polk.

Yesterday's bride began her theatrical career as a chorus girl in the musical comedy "The Belle of New York," later appearing in "The Strollers" and "The Liberty Bells." William A. Brady discovered her possibilities for serious roles and gave her opportunities to star. Some of the plays in which she played leads were "Caste," "Arizona," "The First Lady of the Land," "Such a Little Queen" and "The Strange Woman."

This spring she appeared as Portia with Sir Herbert Tree in "The Merchant of Venice." Mrs. Clarke recently announced that she would not retire from the stage after her marriage.

Her first husband was Frederick Chamberlain Hoy, whose father was for many years President of the Adams Express Company. She obtained a divorce in the New Jersey Court of Chancery August 12, 1914, on the ground of desertion.

Mr. Clarke is vice-president of the Hariman National Bank. He is a graduate of Yale, class 1900, and is a member of the Yale University, Brook, Racquet and Tennis and Suffolk Hunt Clubs. He was formerly adjutant of Squads.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will go to White Sulphur Springs and after a short stay there will go on a two-months' tour.

GERALD WHITMAN WEDS

Bride Is Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Taft, of Providence.

Providence, R. I., June 14.—Miss Eleanor Taft, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Taft, of this city, was married to Gerald Whitman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Whitman, of New York, at noon to-day.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Perry in the presence of a few friends and relatives, at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Mary Frances Taft was flower girl and Miss Martha F. Sayles maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Lydia D. Grosvenor, of this city; Miss Anita S. Chapin, of Erie, Penn.; Miss Alice L. Howard, Miss Lois S. Bliss, Miss Harriet M. Smith and Miss Mary A. Sayles.

The ushers were the bridegroom's brothers, C. Morton Whitman, of New York, and Harold Whitman, of this city. Oswald Pflieger, of Montclair, N. J.; Dudley P. Ranney and Paul R. Withington, of Boston, and William B. MacColl, of this city.

Mr. Whitman's cousin, Reginald L. Whitman, of New York, was best man.

SAY ACTOR GAVE BAD CHECK

Hotel and Restaurant Men Appeal Against Davis in Court.

Efforts to cash bogus checks twice in the same place are credited with bringing about the downfall of John E. Davis, an actor, of Boston, who was held in $1,000 bonds in the West Side court yesterday on three charges of petit larceny.

Frederick Wishart, manager of the Hotel Astor, testified that Davis had appeared at the hotel Tuesday night and offered a check for $38.75 to be cashed. He said Davis was recognized as a man who had passed a bogus check some months before. The stranger was engaged in conversation while an assistant called a patrolman. Thomas J. Healy and John Shanley identified Davis in court as a purveyor of worthless checks.

FILM ACTORS IN REAL WRECK

Camera Man, However, Catches Results of Auto Smash-Up.

A score of amateur motion picture performers were involved in an automobile collision at Rye yesterday. One automobile overturned, giving probable concussion of the brain to Julius Kahn, carrying the nose of Thomas Vaccaro, and severely bruising others.

As soon as he could extricate himself, the man who turns the crank set up his movie machine and took pictures of the wreck, the contortions of the injured, and the work of the surgeon in aid of Vaccaro.

TAPS FOR K. OF K. SILENCES BAZAAR

Twenty Thousand Bow, Then Sing "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

Taps were sounded in honor of "K. of K." at the Allied Bazaar last night, and the whole throng of revellers, shouting and laughing at one minute to nine, changed instantly into a procession of mourners. Motor cars were stopped at the entrance, and women in evening clothes shivered and bowed their heads, side by side with the humblest of Britain's friends on the sidewalk.

Inside, saliegria, with frothy amusements of chaffin tea gowns, clever missives trying to sell automobiles and frenzied chairmen of booths seeking to find workers, all stopped when the bugle sounded. Twenty thousand faces were turned, and twenty thousand heads were bowed toward the front of the Grand Central Palace, where the Rev. Dr. Manning, rector of Trinity Church, read a short prayer in memory of the great war lord. Then the orchestra played England's hymn, "The Land of Hope and Glory."

The New York crowd were so impressed by the ceremony that they forgot to hide their emotions, and when the tune changed to "Onward Christian Soldiers," everyone took up the refrain. Then was seen the amazing spectacle of a throng of people, dressed in evening gowns and hats, after a long and tiring day, singing, as they went, "Like a mighty army moves the church of God."

Coins for Kitchener's Cause.

At the head of the stairs stood a Kitchener memorial tableau. Many paused in their march to drop a coin into the box labelled, "Do your bit for Kitchener's cause." Miss Cecil Hart, representing England, and Miss Elaine Graham, representing America, extended condolences.

The Kitchener Memorial came at the end of the moment of the bazaar's greatest joyfulness. The guests of the first $1,000,000 mark a festive dinner was given last night in the Café de Paris.

Prince Pierre Troubetzkoy, in a chef's coat and cap, trotted around with a tray of food, and served the guests in the garden, which is a riot of fountains and statuary, and between courses New York's most beautiful waitresses passed up and down with great pleasure their sprinkled on the tables.

The dinner was cooked by Prince Troubetzkoy and Miss Miriam Larkin, who was a lady-in-waiting to the Duchess of Connaught.

There was minestrone, the peasant soup of Italy; Italian ragout and salad; Quartier Latin, topped off with good old-fashioned Concord and Lexington strawberry shortcake; and guests of honor were Mr. Benjamin Guinness, Miss Constance Collier and Miss Janet Scudder. Waitresses were Mrs. R. J. Rendel, Mrs. Jack Fairchild, Miss Florence Fairchild, Miss Kathleen Macdonald, Miss Janet Travers, Miss Kathly Butterfield and Mrs. Dollie Howitt, of Johannesburg, South Africa, assisted by R. J. Rendel and Lionel Atwill.

Brother a War Victim.

One favorite waitress was missing. Miss Cathleen Nesbit, who has been in attendance at the bazaar every day, was notified yesterday morning that her brother had been killed in battle. He had been awarded the British military cross of honor on Saturday.

To-night there will be an address by Jules Bois, and Anna Held in war costume will tell again the story of her experiences in the hospital of France.

A Peard touring car was given last night to the Australian booth by P. E. Quinn, representative of the government of New South Wales.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and her Harry Payne Whitney were at the bazaar during the afternoon. Mrs. Whitney put in a very active hour selling bronzes.

ENO HAD FEARS OF WOMAN MAYOR

Lillian Russell Going to Rule City, He Told Former Consul.

MILLIONAIRE ALSO HATED AUTOMOBILES

Preferred to Ride in Train and Save Two-and-one-half Cents a Mile.

Amos F. Eno, whose will is being contested in the Surrogates' Court, had two pet aversions—woman suffrage and automobiles. Perhaps the equal rights for women was the greater. Of this he took such a fearful view that he believed that Lillian Russell might be elected Mayor of New York if the suffrage cause was successful.

Antonio E. Delino, of Caracas, former Consul General of Venezuela here, testified that at Saratoga he had seen a newspaper clipping in Mr. Eno's hand containing a humorous suggestion that the former comic opera star might be a candidate.

"See what we are coming to! We're going to have Lillian Russell for Mayor of New York," was the way Mr. Eno expressed himself, according to Mr. Delino. At another time he said: "Women have no brains, and they should have no rights." This was in contrast to his former views on women, said the witness.

Mr. Delino saw
